A wedding party of seven people is captured in a joyful moment outdoors. The bride, in a white lace gown with a long veil, and the groom, in a dark tuxedo with a white pocket square, are the central figures. They are surrounded by bridesmaids in light-colored dresses and groomsmen in dark tuxedos. The scene is filled with a shower of white confetti, and several people are holding up champagne bottles in celebration. The background shows a grassy field with trees, suggesting a park or garden setting.

“Once in a while, right in the middle of an ordinary life, love gives us a fairytale.”
